Dear Senator Coons

I have written to Representative Carney with an issue that you may not be aware of concerning the Hares Corner mail processing facility. At the public input meeting there was a theory that we, at Hares Corner could gain mail from our surrounding areas just outside our State borders. While this is true, and would almost certainly save jobs in Delaware, there needs to be a feasibility study conducted before any such mail could be diverted to our facility. As of February 10th 2012 no study has been implemented. This study is crucial to keep the mail service moving in Delaware. Meanwhile the USPS is moving full speed ahead for consolidations across the country. I believe if we are consolidated with Bellmawr before the feasibility study is conducted, it will be too late. The USPS is not communicating with its employees or their representatives on this issue. Both craft employees and management employees alike will share the burden of unemployment if the USPS just stonewalls the feasibility study. Please hold the USPS accountable for the study and its sooner rather than later implementation.

Thank you for your continued support
